FEATURED PROGRAMS

Out of 180 academic programs, the following three provide unique opportunities for students. The Bachelor of Science in Substance Use and Treatment and Bachelor of Social Work allow students to maximize their return on investment in rapidly growing markets. The Bachelor of Science in University Studies helps make students more employable across industries.

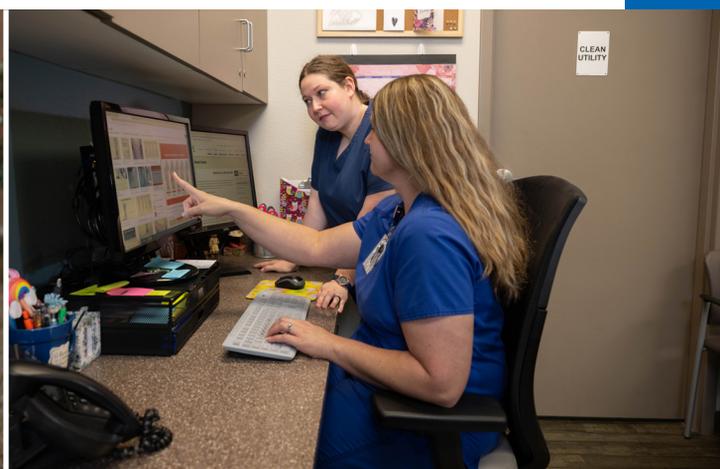

Bachelor of Science in Substance Use and Treatment

With a projected 70,000 job openings each year between 2021-2031, substance use and treatment has one of the highest anticipated occupation growth rates in the nation at 22% annually. UTA's Bachelor of Science in Substance Use and Treatment (BSSUT) provides students a chance to make a difference in their communities and accelerate their careers with this highly in-demand degree.

While the coursework for the BSSUT can be completed entirely online, students will still benefit from valuable hands-on experience with field placements and internship hours during their final semesters. Applicable field experiences count both as education and supervisory hours toward meeting some state professional licensing requirements.

Successful students will learn to screen, assess, and treat clients with substance use disorders and will be prepared for their Licensed Chemical Dependency Counselor exam (prospective students are reminded to check with their state licensing board for specific requirements and that UTA offers no guarantees of a graduate being accepted by a particular state licensing board). Further, those interested in earning their Master of Social Work (MSW) may do so, specializing in mental health and substance misuse.

Graduates of the program go on to a variety of career settings, including hospitals and healthcare, outpatient rehabilitation centers, and criminal justice systems nationwide. Learn more about the BS in Substance Use and Treatment and UTA's School of Social Work here.

Bachelor of Social Work

Consistently ranked the No.1 Bachelor of Social Work (BSW) online program in Texas and accredited by the Council on Social Work Education, UTA's BSW offers motivated students a real opportunity to improve the lives of those in their communities.

There's a real need for talented social workers! Between 2021-2031, social work as an occupation has a projected 9% growth rate with over 60,000 anticipated annual job openings.

In addition to convenient, accessible online coursework, students will learn alongside nursing, medical, and public health students through interprofessional education opportunities embedded throughout the program. These experiences provide valuable insights into allied healthcare systems and further contextualize the role and impact of social workers. Successful BSW students go on to work in a wide range of settings, from hospitals and healthcare to nonprofits, child welfare, criminal justice systems, and schools across the country.

With three convenient start dates, the BSW is perfect for busy, working adults to advance their career in community wellness. And to help sharpen their expertise, BSW students can choose from dozens of minors across the university or two within the School of Social Work: Diversity Studies and Substance Use Treatment.

Qualified BSW students can be admitted to our MSW program with the added benefit of a quick admissions process and the first year of the MSW program waived. The BSW also welcomes community college transfer students who have completed a two-year degree into an accelerated BSW to MSW program where they can earn two degrees in just three years.

"I chose Social Work because I had an interest in helping people, specifically people who struggle with addiction."
